

What is the expectation for 5th grade where the class is 7-Sped, 7-ESL, who are supposed to leave for ESL instruction and 8 regular ed students? And, who gives the grades for these pulled students?

The special education students should receive their core instruction in the general education classroom and be pulled out for intervention with the special education teacher. Students are not graded in intervention. If the co-teaching model is being used, the grade should be determined by the co-teachers.
